

CHANGE OF MAJOR AND TRANSFER APPLICANTS

Change of Major

With the recent administrative reorganization under Texas A&M's Path Forward, Allied Health and Community Health have been merged with Public Health. Students will change major into Public Health and follow the Public Health curriculum.

This information is for current Texas A&M University–College Station campus students.

The Bachelor of Science in Public Health (BSPH) program will accept changes of major according to Texas A&M University policy, but restricts changes of major according to the criteria listed below. In addition, the dean or designate must verify availability of resources necessary to insure the student's full-time enrollment in required courses prior to admission to the BSPH. If such resources are not available, admission will be denied.

Students at Texas A&M University wishing to change major after beginning in another college or department must meet the following requirements to be considered for change of major:

- Minimum Texas A&M GPA of 3.00 and above
- Complete the Texas A&M Core Curriculum with grades of C or better
- 90 attempted credit hours or fewer (credits attempted at any institution)
- 15 hours completed at Texas A&M University

Howdy portal change of major is not required. Students initiate change of major during walk-in advising hours.
